You didn't know her when you saw her at the movies.
You were a sharp dressed lad and your looking kind of groovy.
You started searching down the aisles and looking down the rows.
Would she be looking for you, did you notice, do you think she know's?

And there she was, walking through the door.
A little blue eyed beauty, how could you ignore her.
A little devil in an angels dress, was more than you could bare.
Both of you trembling, shaking, animals, both at you stare.

It's physical, it's emotional, it's insatiable
