i could shout from a rooftop how i really feel do you really want to know do you really care i could silently scream so you never hear somebody said you must rise above it all cause we were born to be loved somebody said read the writing on the wall we were born to be loved how the eaning changes when the screaming hits your ears do you hear and do you really card can you count the reasons why we have so many fears as big heart lonely eyes a child plays with toys soon to realize to stop playin take it all inside all he wanted was love he remembers how that nobody cared he was alone with everybody there took a chance and got outta there all he wanted was love the mouth of the fool was a whip on his back hes got the scars to prove it a broken heart a matter of fact but he knows how to use it happy endings are not just on tv broken hearts dont lose one piece of the puzzle and the beatles said all you need is love i could point the finger but theres too much inside here
