It's New Years Day, a sense of celebration
A fresh new start to life's daily encounters Take a deep breath we're gonna venture out the country
Broadening our perspectives moving in the right direction
We're only young the feeble touch aint hit us yet We're still at home our chores consist of changing outfits
Our source of nourishment is watching Oprah on the hot box
The flicks, the booze, the ooze, sticky food, all crammed to a congestion
Red of liquid, heat of flame give a drop of love to become quite tame
This witches brew is set on you trying to stir you up for a new beginning
The dice has been rolled its now a chance to make a difference
Come and see our golden fields of stringy bark and pine It's not a tale that's being told on this Earth revolving ball
Come and taste our mangoes and the grapes upon the vines
Red of liquid, heat of flame give a drop of love to
become quite tame
a new beginning
