has everything I've ever done all been for nothing culminating in a sense that I don't exist do I think therefore I am inside this oven has the heat gone to my head and there's something here that I missed cause the music brings us all together and we eat what they feed us cause we know it'll make us strong we have been optimized for your listening pleasure so after this commercial break everybody sing along it'll make us strong equalize it homogenize it condense the entire world down to a simple phrase cause the masses don't care about what words you've written so never concern yourself with the quality of what the junkies crave it'll make us eat it it'll make us strong
