nineteen flowers
one for each year
one for happiness
and one for fear
one for sorrow
and three for joy
the rest to my girl
from her boy
two become one
as the lovers collide
boy becomes groom
and the girl becomes bride and all the little people step to the side
and the whole world stops as the people smile with pride except the mother
who is happy
but yet she cries
one day love
and one day live
one day cry
and one day give dagger in my eye
I one day find
I figure one day laugh
the next day blind
side by side
the words they exchange the lovers kiss
they both then do change
boy becomes man
and the bride becomes wife and they move far far away to a brand new life
late in the night
the trouble begins
fire steals the roof and the walls crumble in I call the next day
to find they're ok

I say come to my door
and I'll let you stay
things get better
and the two become three and they grace the world with a brand new baby with eyes as blue as the sky and the smile that can brighten the night
