Pretend that you've read what has only been written
On thoughts of you scattered
Around my obsessions
Convincing myself that you're all that I've wanted
I'm finding new reasons for falling apart
Its you beautiful smile
The way that you laugh and
I swore that I wouldn't
But I think that I'm falling

So hear me out, I feel like making mistakes
Just to know what it's like
Please understand what this takes
Cuz I can't hold back
I'm leaving nothing to chance
This would be better left unsaid
This would be better left unsaid

I'll pretend that I've read what has never been written
Thoughts seem to scatter
Confuse my intention
Convince yourself now this is all that you've wanted
And find all the reasons for falling apart
I will keep you together
I won't break your heart
And you swore that you wouldn't
But it's too late you're falling

So hear me out, I feel like making mistakes
Just to know what it's like
Please understand what this takes
Cuz I can't hold back
I'm leaving nothing to chance
This would be better left unsaid
This would be better left unsaid

And all this time
You were searching for something
May be lost in your past
But I am right here,
I'm waiting

To tell you the reasons why
I'll wait for,
At least I'll try

Hear me out, I feel like making mistakes
Just to know what it's like
Please understand what this takes
Cuz I can't hold back
I'm leaving nothing to chance
This would be better left unsaid
This would be better left unsaid
