I can't say I never loved you
Forget the past you said forever.

I was wrong to assume I knew you
But secrets were kept from me everyday
Hidden by you and I'm calling you out

And this bitter taste in my mouth
Left dry and irritated from a last kiss goodbye
To prove my point of this deception

I can't say I never loved you
Forget the past you said forever
Bite my lip and taste my anger
Can you feel it growing as you linger
These words tell of how I trusted
And of all the pain that I have been through
Turn your back to leave in silence
I'll be stronger in your absence

I don't need an excuse it's too late
What good would it do from you anyways
I can take this but I'm letting you go

And these shallow words from my mouth

Left soft and barely spoken but don't get me wrong
This is nothing short of hatred

I can't say I never loved you
Forget the past you said forever
Bite my lip and taste my anger
Can you feel it growing as you linger
These words tell of how I trusted
And of all the pain that I have been through
Turn your back to leave in silence
I'll be stronger in your absence

These words tell of how I trusted
And of all the pain that I have been through

I can't say I never love you
Forget the past you said forever
Bite my lip and taste my anger
Can you feel it growing as you linger

These words tell of how I trusted
And of all the pain that I have been through
