Everything you do says you're leaving me

Everything you say shows you don't believe in me

How was I supposed to know this was gonna hurt a soul

You and I are strangers in our home

You and I are strangers in our home

Everything I feel proves there's nothing left in me

Everything I hear takes away the breath in me

How was I supposed to know this was gonna hurt a soul

You and I are strangers in our home

You and I are strangers in our home
