[The Hope Conspiracy]

The threat of innocence slashed ear to ear
all too much to take year after year the mark of failure a song in passing a likeness within gray matter suppress the tears for too long and become a timebomb this is the bed I make this is the pain you gave the threat of innocence slashed ear to ear
an author to a tragedy writing in the pages of my misery a victim in the dirt never forgetting these exit wounds no spark in these eyes and all but a memory a portrait in mind and heart every waking moment with their knife to my throat
