

The Wooden Wings "Blind"

Visit "Blind" on MotoLyrics.com

Hey boy, how do you feel anyway?
Is it mutual, or should she just let it fade away?
Is there some kind of debt she's gotta clear?
Enough about you, enough about everything She's sad and confused, but you don't make any kind of effort to clear things up

To watch her go through this is a pretty tough thing
But you're blind aren't you, blind to it all
Open your eyes boy, this ignorance act needs to end

She's never been so close to love
But she runs, she runs, and she'll keep running away
She knows you can't be hers anyway, anyway

First time she's ever been so close to someone so like her
It's something unreal but not unnatural
She questions this love every minute of every moment
It's an awkward situation that calls for a slight intervention
You treat it like it's nothing when it's just so much
The memories of you taunt her

To watch her go through this is a pretty tough thing
But you're blind aren't you, blind to it all
Open your eyes boy, this ignorance act needs to end

She's never been so close to love
But she runs, she runs, and she'll keep running away
She knows you can't be hers anyway, anyway

She's never been so close to love
Ooh, ooh

Visit The Wooden Wings page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.