Black River (Elliot) by Jasper Erkens
Speaking words made of wisdom flying high above the sky
He saw his face in the river
But that's been a while Black river painted white

Talking loudly with no meaning Asking people to believe But all you get is some shocked faces don't tell a lie It's just me, myself and I

Only Elliot knows
he sings this song everywhere he goes
Maybe Elliot finds
And he knows, he knows where to hide

Sitting here on a stone made of glass Falling towards the sun but I've got the feeling that the moment slips away Don't tell a joke
For you I'm nothing more than smoke

Only Elliot knows
he sings this song everywhere he goes
Maybe Elliot finds
And he knows, he knows where to hide
