

Jealousy Curve

"Man Alive"

Visit "Man Alive" on MotoLyrics.com

I met a man who wanna lay some advice on me
He said "You put one to rest - another one slides in his place, you see"

It's a simple equation you must understand
If you wanna survive losing all you have
There is one thing I refuse to believe
That there's nothing your conscience needs

Chorus

The look in your eyes, the air in your lungs
The color of life (love), the taste on your tongue
You're a man alive, but what are you living for?

I got a plan, it's got massive velocity
Let it burn in my chest, are you feeling the urgency?

It's a simple equation you must understand
If you do not like living as half a man
We're used to abandoning what we begun
I know what you're thinking of

Chorus

How many years have come and gone?
And dressed in faces of uncertainty
While underneath your heart is breaking
Lay down your fears and make a choice
There's so much in front of you
Let it be your VOICE!!!!!!!!!!!!

Chorus

Repeat

Visit Jealousy Curve page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.