I can still smell the summer air walking to the park, to the place where I grew up humid nights, ridiculous fights over girls that we just met rollerblading everywhere, didn't care about too much take me back to 1993

being young, having fun, overcome by everyone real life's got me down today

just took it all how it always came big fight, tonight
we'll dress in black to run away behind the school we spent our days what do you wanna do tonight how can we still a case of beer from the backyard it's collection night, that's right so we're all gonna get paid party in the woods seems appropriate enough let's start the fire let it burn til the sun comes up

big fight, tonight

whoa....

we'll talk all through the night and thing's will they'll never be the same again as they were back in 1993 they fade away

big fight, tonight

our days, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah!
