Let them carry me away
To any place that they have chosen for me
One day I become the stream
The stream that flows to the ocean
The moment of peace
Right before drowning
The final release when I'm becoming one with the sea
Whatever you do, you won't be saved
Whatever you hope, it's an illusion
Cause happiness can't be held in place
There are no one-time-solve-all solutions
There is no end
As far as I see
There is no future
There's only now
Just you and me... one with the ocean
I have been searching all around the globe
For a secret gate out of this world
Only to find there's no such place
The only peace I find is in constant change
I have been searching all around the globe
For a secret gate
Out of this world
Out of the cold
Only to find there's no such gate
