You came into my life, you took me off the shelf
You told my name to me and taught me what to do
But then you went away and left me by myself,
Now, I'm completely lost and lonely without you

Why'd you go, baby? I guess you know,
I've got to learn to live without you
I've got to learn to live without you
I've got to learn to live without you, without you

Today I thought I saw you walkin' down the street
With someone else, I turned my head and faced the wall
You started cryin' and your heart fell to your feet
But you looked again, it wasn't me at all

Why'd you go, baby? I guess you know,
I've got to learn to live without you
I've got to learn to live without you
I've got to learn to live without you, without you

It's just no good without you, without you
It's just no good without you, without you
