

The Renaissance

"Blessing in disguise"

Visit "Blessing in disguise" on MotoLyrics.com

Every drop of water descending like a pearl lays upon the silken skin of this perfect girl

The breeze around her body moved upwards to her face it held on like a baby that found its resting place

Voices from the night before cannot be denied
suddenly revealing
all the pain inside Entering a well of thoughts all her fears subside
all the bad things turning to a blessing in disguise

She was the faintest flower washed in by the tide sending silent messages to the world outside

Her face began to soften her lips took on a smile the people who had loved her came rushing to her side

Voices from the night before
cannot be disguised
suddenly revealing
all the pain inside
Entering a well of thoughts
all her fears subside
all the bad things turning to
a blessing in disguise

Visit The Renaissance page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

---

