

The Rockfords

"Windows"

Visit "Windows" on MotoLyrics.com

I have to laugh at inside terror
To survive another day
The trying, the selling of my soul and my fall from grace
You see the darkened streets reigning gamblers are dealing insecurity
And I am tempted to Painting everything invisible
Creating a simple life
Walking by the open windows keeps me from cement
angels
Walking by the open windows keeps me from going outside
Stepping through the mirror shared Cutting me like sickening fire
I know the tools to break into the danger zone I've created
And I am tempted to Painting everything invisible
Creating a simple life
Walking by the open windows keeps me from cement
angels
Walking by the open windows keeps me from going
outside
If the water falls right into you
If you have to know what you're gonna do
To get out
It's the waterfall you have to do
If you need to say what they put you through
To get out
If you have to know what you gonna do
If they have to see what they put you through
To get out

Visit The Rockfords page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.