This song is for Django.

I'm surrounded by a light that shines.
In your eyes I see my souls reprise.
There's so many things I need to tell you,
there's so many things I need to show you...
That could take a while.

Did you know that I'll always love you, daystar.
There's angels above you always, daystar.
I've waited so long to see you,
I knew that you'd always be here.
I've waited so long to meet you, daystar.
Have you traveled far?

Now listen,
I've seen daylight rising like a dove.
The edges of twilight in the skies above.
But nothing compares to what you gave me,
I didn't know that you could save me now...
You knew all along.

Did you know that I'll always love you, daystar.
There's angels above you always, daystar.
I've waited so long to see you,
I knew that you'd always be here.
I've waited so long to meet you, daystar.

In the tree of life I see
All those ancient mysteries
But they pale in the shadow of your soul
Don't you know how I need you
I really need you.

And I will always love you, daystar
There's angels above you always, daystar
I've waited so long to see you,
I knew that you'd always be here
I've waited so long to meet you, daystar
Have you traveled far?
