Never one to give up so you dig in your heels
No matter how bad you know it feels
You say you're coming to terms with the way that you are
But you've forgotten who you could be

Look up ahead, it's something beautiful

Do you feel at a crossroad?
You wanna leave but you don't know
How to fly, how to let go, let go

When you finally fit in, you never wanted to change
It's so much safer to stay the same
But it's time to move on and the courage will come
If you remember that you are free

Look up ahead, it's something beautiful

Do you feel at a crossroad?
You wanna leave but you don't know
How to fly, how to let go, let go

Forsaking all security, embracing the uncertainty
And falling into this Remember this before you leave, how simple that the truth can be
You are human and you are free

Look up ahead, it's something beautiful

Do you feel at a crossroad?
You wanna leave but you don't know
How to fly, how to let go, let go

Do you feel at a crossroad?
You wanna leave but you don't know
How to fly, how to let go, let go, let go
