to see if i would survive.
I could fall down every now and then,
but it's different this time.
You see here this is no rent to pay,
to much shit thats on my mind.
Every time that i think about you now,
water rises to my eyes.
Well it still hits me like it use to hit,
except it's harder this time.
I remember when we use to sit,
on the burgundy sky.
You see here this is no rent to pay,
to much shit thats on my mind.
Every time that i think about you now,
water rises to my eyes.
Things got crazy,
you my baby,
it feels like waiting.
You always said I'd fall apart
drving around so wasted
we use to beat in the dark but now, it's harder to find those places now.
Things got crazy,
you my baby,
it feels like waiting.
