This is the place I've always heard of This is the place when you leave this world This is the place I've been dying for It's so much better seeing it from the floor I don't see the gates of Pearl but I can see all the girls of the world girls down here are a dime a dozen when up top ya can't find nothing there's no way tradition and ritual put me away this is the place I've been dying for it's so much better when it's on the floor this is the place I've been dying for what's behind that shiny green door this is the sound I've been hearing of it's turned up loud like my trigger finger this is the sound I've been dying for it's so much better when I'm on the floor And I put on my headphones then It's O.K. to put me away.
