You walked into the door and walked into my life Never asked you for anything but you gave me your whole life
Greeting cards are a dollar and laughter seems to be free
The yuppie that had no money, well, she didn't bother me

Tell me why you wanna love me
Tell me why you wanna help
'cause you just told me all about me and expect me to get there myself

Never knew why I did it Always made me sick in the end
But I bet you why I did it had something to do with you my friend
Well you told me much about being strong Made me feel just like my feet belong Told myself I'd be embraced by your lovely arms
And I'd never trace back to those old charms

Tell me why you wanna love me
Tell me why you wanna help
get there myself
Tell me why you wanna love me
Tell me why you wanna help
get there myself

Tell me why you wanna love me
Tell me why you wanna help
'cause you just told me all about me and expect me to
get there myself

Tell me about gettin' there
Tell me about gettin' there
Tell me about gettin' there
Tell me about gettin' there

Tell me why you wanna love me

Tell me why you wanna help
Cause you just told me all about me and expect me to get there myself
