"Love Song"

If you listen, you can hear the sound that all the Earth is singing back to you,
Oh, it's a beauty that is only found in a glorious array of truth.

And there is evidence of who you are in every part of every living thing,
And, in the heart of every living thing, there is a song that we were meant to sing.

This is a love song,
This is a love song,
This is our love song,
This is a love song to you.
If you listen, you can hear the song that my heart is beating back to you,
As the world begins to sing along, it becomes something so beautiful.

This is a love song,
This is a love song,
This is our love song,
This is a love song to you.

This is a love song,
This is a love song,
This is our love song,
This is a love song to you.

This is our love song,
This is a love song to you.

It's a beauty that is only found in a glorious array of truth.
