Oh I feel the sting, the disappointment's catching up with me this time Although I'll succeed I'm too ashamed to look into my father's eyes

oh what have I become

Everything I ever wanted suddenly is proving real tonight... I can feel it now Yet all the things I think I want are very things that push
my friends aside
And I need them now, oh I need them now

I'm afraid it's all for nothing

Oh why is it hard to see, at a glance it seems that everything's just fine Yet I see suddenly, it's like I'm seeing wounds appear for the first time

Everything I ever wanted suddenly is proving real
tonight... I can feel it now
Yet all the things I think I want are very things that push
my friends aside
And I need them now, oh I need them now

Cause all, all I see are these let down faces looking back at me

Everything I've ever wanted, All the lies I've ever told and the promises and hearts I've broken

Oh I feel them now and I'm afraid it's all for nothing
