Did you think you were immune to this?
Did you think you could escape without infection?
You do all you're able to resist
Just to avoid the danger of rejection

Memory warns you of the past
When it all went wrong

When you think your life is shattered
And there's no way to be fixed again
Love heals your heart

At a time you least expected
You're alive like you have never been
Love heals your heart

Everybody has a wall to climb
That was built to guard the pain that holds them captive
And every smile that they would hide behind
Will try to mask the hurt beneath the surface

Sometimes it's hard to understand
How we're trapped inside

When you think your life is shattered
And there's no way to be fixed again
Love heals your heart

At a time you least expected
You're alive like you have never been
Love heals your heart, love heals your heart

When you think your life is shattered
And there's no way to be fixed again
Love heals your heart

At a time you least expected
You're alive like you have never been
Love heals your heart

Love, it heals your heart
(Love heals your heart)

Love, it heals your heart now
(Love heals your heart)

(Love heals your heart)
Love, it heals your heart
(Love heals your heart)
Love heals your heart
