"Take Me Back"

It's your heart that keeps you running
And it's your mind that I can't change
Will you ever be returning
And coming back again, coming back again

Take me back to the place where it started
Take me back to the warmth of the sun
To the place where the rivers meet the ocean
Take me back home
Yeah, that's where I belong

And have you ever really wondered
As we walk beneath the stars
Will we find the truth, will we discover
It isn't very far, it's not so very far

Take me back to the place where it started
Take me back to the warmth of the sun
To the place where the rivers meet the ocean
Take me back home
Yeah, that's where I belong
That's where I belong

I wonder if I've gone too far
Lord, please help me get back home
Where I belong

Take me back to the place where it started
Take me back to the warmth of the sun
To the place where the rivers meet the ocean
Take me back home
That's where I belong
Back where I belong
Where I belong
Oh, where I belong
Yeah, that's where I belong

It's your heart that keeps you running
