You've got the power
You've got the power, ahoy

I've been to so many places
Not knowing just what I'd find
I seen so many different faces
But they always stay fresh in my mind

Some of them seem so lonely
Trying to make it on their own
Wondering where to turn to
Knowing you can't make no blood out of stone

People everywhere they just want to be free
But they find it so hard to be what they gotta be
Gotta be the teaching of their society
Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange

People everywhere they just want to be free
But they find it so hard to be what they gotta be
Gotta be the teaching of their society
Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange

I've been through hard time decisions
When I could not tell right from wrong
But at the end of my destination
I've found out that's just where I belong

People everywhere they just want to be free
But they find it so hard to be what they gotta be
Gotta be the teaching of their society
Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange

Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange
Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange
Brother you've got the power to make a change
Sister you've got the power rearrange
