I wake up from the darkest night I try and find a light But nothing seems to help me These clouds are always circling my head The sky is choking on crude oil the bleak horizon, sun, and soil the messed up haze
i turn to run i see her face and she, she knocks me off my feet she makes me want to live again she, she knocks me down like rain pouring through my heart she's all i got

and through the dust i blink my eyes a hurricane of open fire shes burning on my skin it hits me like a bullet through my brain and its no chemical affair i never felt so strange i was a wrecking ball of hatred there but thats all changed because

she, she knocks me off my feet
pouring through my heart

And if a man had a single chance with you you know the lengths that i'd go to one life and a million miles from home i'd take you anywhere you wanna go so where you wanna go?

I found the one
The only love the only one i'm always thinking of

pouring through my heart
