

Thirteen Senses

"After The Retreat"

Visit "After The Retreat" on MotoLyrics.com

Incompleted rhythms of the heart killing my soul
Incompleted visionary forms taking control
Resisting all attempts to build control around here
Resisting all decisions making it so cold around here
Sooner or later the tides'll be back here
Returning for ever and changing everything
Now that all the good islands have sunk down
Into the ocean
We're deeper than you know

Communication breaks down, words escape as I speak Communication brings the whole world down on its knees
Resisting all attempts to build control around here
Resisting all decisions making it so cold around here
Sooner or later the tides will be back here
Returning for ever and changing everything
And now that all the good islands have sunk down
Into the ocean
We're deeper than you know

It's all you must deliver
It's all you must deliver
It's all you must deliver

When they retreat will you come back?
I ask of you no more than that
When they retreat will you come back?
I ask of you no more than that

And I would centre all the plans
Be stronger than a man
And slow the whole thing down
And build a better land
And do it all with you

Visit Thirteen Senses page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.