"Fall To Rise"

bolt the door and keep in the night there are ghosts outside and you can't hide in the light a crying, weeping willow tree where shadows lie and spirits sing their need and i, i looked into your lines

we looked across to the other side i don't know how the water got so wide i'm wading, i'm wading we swam until the sea turned black now i can't see forward and i won't look back

the moon rests high above the hills the waning tide shows more than it conceals we walk into the claiming waves to diving unafraid and we fall to rise we fall to rise

and i, i looked into your lines

my love, my love
we fall to rise above

i'm wading, i'm wading
i'm wading, i'm wading

i saw you, i learned you, i knew you, i had to i see you, i've learned you, i know you, i have to

i know you, i knew you
i loved you, i loathed you
