I will jump overboard
And wade on to the shore
Before it's not too late
I will run up to meet you
And tell you that i need you so
And you will take me home
Don't be a stranger now
Throw your arms around me
I know i can't go without you
I will take the leap of faith
Straight into your arms
Where everything is falling into place
And everything is fitting into place again
You will see me coming
You knew i would be back
You've waited for me every day
As if i never went away
Nothing to fear
Nothing to doubt
Everything
Everything is held now
