The last ray of the sunshine
Touched your face, cemented skin
Dried up the tears before they could be seen

I've learned that concrete absorbs moisture
Cracks bring light, straight to the heart
Dissolve feeling

I am the crease in your wings so try to fly away
The last ray of the sunshine
Touched your face, cemented skin
Dried up the tears before they could be seen

I am the crease in your wings
Crippling, crippling
Disabling the call to flight

So try to fly away as far as you can
So try to fly away, I dare you
Distance makes no difference
Caught inside internal positions

I inhabit the heart
And magnetize from within
To soften the stone I'll become the parasite
A halo of pride in your thoughts and words

Test the noose
Words with wings I send out into the sky
They fall short again

Test the noose, test the noose
How can you look in the sky
And tell me that you're the center of it all?
Once again, test the noose, test the noose

I saw your statue fall today
I just watched you fall
Watched it fall, yeah

I felt you die
And I saw your statue fall today

I just watched it fall, watched it fall

I felt you die

I saw your statue fall today

I just watched you fall, watched you fall

I felt you die
