Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray my sanity to keep
I dream of change and things to come
Losing all the selfish ones

Keeping close to your side
Is one weakness I just can't hide
I think of such crazy things
What will this time with you bring

I think I will remove these rose colored glasses
Before one more glimpse of craziness passes
Hello baby it's good to see you again
And if by chance I fall fall fall will I come out
Standing in the end

Picture screaming in this padded room
Insanity in full bloom
That's a constant in my mind
All wisdom was left behind

Walking down this empty street
My heart won't work with my feet
Because my feet seem to always walk to you
I guess my heart don't think that that'll do

I think I will remove these rose colored glasses
Before one more glimpse of craziness passes
Hello baby it's good to see you again
And if by chance I fall fall fall will I come out

Standing in the end
