i am sick of always trying
but not trying hard enough

i am done with the weak end who cant even control himself im taking back control

bring me back to you
let me know that youre still the one that i hold onto
i know it wont be long i cant go on without you

everything i know
says youll be there
everything ive learned
says you will care
now every little thing that means the world to me every little thing that probly doesnt matter at all sick to death of all my cheap talk when will i just follow you done with trying on my own cause its not worth me i need you we're gonna pull myself together

every little thing that probly doesnt matter at all

i need you
i want you i love you

i was before you
to need you to want you to love you

[x2]

and everything i know
and everything ive learned
about how every little thing that means the world to me and every little thing that probly doesnt matter at all im taking back control [x7]
