We thought we had it all along
Made a plan to keep us safe from harm
We thought we had it figured out
You could lead us all the way

But everything is different now
As they tore it all apart
And I left you out of light and out of air

Into the eye of every storm
I hope to find your face somewhere
Out of the things I never did
I dream of getting us out of here

I thought we had it in control
You reminded me to stay in line
To keep it quiet to stay low
Just to make it all the way

But everything is different now
There is nothing left to say
As I left you out of light and out of a air

Into the eye of every storm
I hope to find your face somewhere
Out of the things I never did
I dream of getting us out of here
