No exception, no encore
You don't seem to notice them at all
The things they've done to you

There's no reason for all this
And all these words are coming out the wrong way
Now they have come for you

Wish I'd walked these roads before
A helping hand closing all the doors

Done enough to make me fear
Cursing all that's left leave the oars
Take all that's dear to me

You will fall because of me
Still aching for your company
So stay!
Won't you stay?

I leave these shores with broken sails
Just a sing a song to guide me on my way
Won't you sing?

You will fall because of me
Still aching for your company
So stay!
Won't you stay?

I leave these shores with broken sails
Just a sing a song to guide me on my way
Won't you sing with me?
