Time after time the story has been told the part
Each and every day the riddles been growing on

How can I touch your heart
When you shut your world from all the love
Let me show you whats been waiting for you

All the love I can hold
Will go into your path to make you alive again
Trust my words cause its sent from above
Throwing the fear that makes you all alone

All the love I can give
Will go into your heart to make you warm again
Take my hand then youll know oh so right
Hear in my arms is where you ought to be

All the love I can give
