I've been out on the ocean,
sailing alone,
traveling nowhere.
You've been running on hard ground,
with just you around,
your heartbeat's the only sound.

But I know, once in a while we will find,
the sound of your heartbeats with mine.
And when it's time, I'll leave the ocean behind.

So I'll look, out for a lighthouse,
See through the fog, search the horizon.
You'll be, like in a movie,
where everything stops,
you can see clearly now.

But I know, once in a while we will find,
the sound of your heartbeats with mine.
And when it's time, I'll leave the ocean behind.
Ooooh, I'll leave the ocean behind.

Ooooh.

Cos I know, once in a while we will find,
the sound of your heartbeats with mine.
And someday, the crash of the waves will be far away
and i will sail in your eyes
Cos when it's time, I'll leave the ocean behind.
