when your voice breaks, it breaks my heart but that is just the start when your soul aches, i don't know what to do then i still want to be with you but because i love you (i'll) gently let you down i'll be better i promise the next time around but i have to leave you when you first ask, i can't explain the silence starts to ring and when i say, it will be better for you your cautious smile says you don't believe but every word is true
i'll gently let you down
if i'm lucky there'll be a next time around if there's not i'll understand time could take its toll but it could heal and let you go if it were easy for me to say goodbye would be a word away when we first met, i knew i'd never regret falling in love with you but where i have to go, i need to go alone i don't know what else to do but know i love you
