You don't know where you're going
What to do or what to say
Don't know which way the wind blows
You just know it ain't blowin' your way

You cannot be there
Cannot be here
Cannot be anywhere
You better go home
I guess you'll find some lovin' there

[Chorus]
We all know it ain't easy to live a life alone
You'll always here the minor in a sad sad song
You're losing it
You're losing it
You're losing it again
The word that makes you sing
Is the same word that tells you nothing

I can see last night made you hard
And left you all alone
I can see last night made you even harder
With the same old things undone

You better stick to your friends
At least you know they care
Or you can join me
I'm going home
I've got some loving there

[Chorus x3]
