Taking hold, breaking in
The pressures on, need to circulate
Mesmerized and taken in Moving slow, so it resonates
It's time to rest, not to sleep away
My thoughts alone, try to complicate
I'll do my best, to seek you out
And be myself, not impersonate

Tried so hard to not walk away
And when things didn't go my way
I'll still carry on and on just the same

I've always been strong
But can't make this happen
'Cause I need to breathe, I want to breathe you in I want to breathe you in

I'm going in, so cover me
Your compass will, help me turn the page
The laughing stock, I'll never be Because I won't let them take me

Took awhile to see all the love tha'ts around me Through the highs and lows there's a truth that I've known
And it's You
