Fill me in, turn me inside out
Sometimes I feel like just letting go and screaming out loud
Fill me up, sometimes it's so messed up
I feel like giving up but it's not far now

But it feels so far away, can't you pull me up

And make me a believer, let you down
For the first time come undone
If you let me, so don't put me down
And don't let this feeling slip away

Let me in, these walls are closing in Sick of these holds I'm in, stuck outside and looking back in Close me up, these hands have had enough
I feel like giving up but it's not far now
But it feels so far away, can't you pull me up

And make me a believer, let you down
For the first time come undone
If you let me, so don't put me down
And don't let this feeling slip away

I'm sorry, I'm sorry
And tonight ignore me, ignore me
You know I, I'm sorry, so sorry
And I'm sorry

Make me a believer, let you down
For the first time come undone
If you let me, so don't put me down
And don't let this feeling slip

Make me a believer, let you down
For the first time come undone
If you let me, so don't put me down
And don't let this feeling slip away
