Dawn the face of a new generation,
The revision of life is here
Born into segregation,
Second guess the existence of you

Falling into the hell below,
Not understanding the reason why

Punish the weak,
To release all the hate inside
Thine eyes are so bleak,
Your intentions seem to drive us in the ground

There's nothing left to breathe for,
This life was dead before it began
Now it's time to accept the end

Taken the life,
From the one that created you
Holding the knife,
Unleash the rage that's been haunting you

Nothing seems to change,
Your life has slipped away, fallen within

Silenced bound enslaved,
Your locked away, rotting within

As time slips away,
The cage will rust
And life will go on,
As you fall to dust
