Sit back, relax me some
Chillin' out in the mid day sun
I got time for anyone but you

Sit back, relax me some
I got time for anyone but you

Lay down, and take a minute
Don't think about the consequence
Slow down, and take a second
Don't think about the consequence
Just listen to the melody it goes...

Ooooh....

In an afternoon, In Sunday's summer sun
You throw it down the field
I run after you, love you laugh and lead me to The spot where we drop down and lay beneath the Beautiful blue sky, and watch the clouds roll by

We lay down, and take a minute,
Never worry about the consequence
Only thought of the melody it goes...

Ooooh....

As the late afternoon faded into the evening
I skipped my last rock off the dock, I was leaving
Plenty of serenity behind, and now that I'm home
There is no ocean through open venetian blinds
I was keepin' time from the sun tan on my face
I miss the warm summer breeze the sand and the waves
How we planned out our days according to the tide
We'd sleep upon the beach to catch the sunrise
But this relief that I was getting was letting myself forget things
And accepting just the best things in life, are never depressing

Not stressing as I was nesting on the shore.
And for the past four months I've been dreamin' about that ocean floor
From Newport back to Huntington to Long Beach
I've been longin' for a long walk amongst them palm trees
But a calm breeze blew me back to Saskatoon
Now it's easy to relax in the afternoon

All the waves wave goodbye so I wave back
(Yeah All the waves wave goodbye so I wave back)

I slept with the sunshine shining on my neck
(I slept with the sunshine shining on my neck)

All the waves wave goodbye so I wave back
(All the waves wave goodbye so I wave back)

I slept with the sunshine shining on my neck
Wondering why this natural high kept me alive as I...

Lay down, and take a second
Don't think about the consequence
Lay down, and take a minute
Don't think about the consequence
Just think of the melody it goes...

Ooooh....
