Have you ever heard the sound of disappointment?

It tangles your head like a winter rose

Comes up eager and shining

And it likes to leave a scar before it goes

Here comes that sinking feeling

(Can't keep it to myself)

Nobody hurts me like you do

You cut into me like a poison dart

Creep into my sleep at night

Break into my dreams and tear them apart

Here comes that sinking feeling

Have you ever felt the sound of disappointment?

It pounds in your head like hammer blows

Comes on gentle and smiling

And it likes to leave a scar...

Here it comes again no

Here comes that sinking feeling
