unknowingly damned from the day of his birth struck down for no apparent reason by the one that he worked for years, so hard to worship and so hard to please his attempts at penance proven by the blood on his knees time slowly passes as the pain lingers on denied of acceptance and his innocence gone he's face to face with the god that he's tried so hard to find the meaning of his life becomes clearly defined by the actions of the god that he'd sought for so long reaching for acceptance, unaware of what he's done his god hangs his head in shame, turns around and walks away horrified at his denial, he knows he won't be saved the boiling blood of hell begins to burn through his veins so aware of his destiny he suddenly became the holy one he worshipped he would soon defy banished from heaven, the man that god denied the powers of pain from his rejection from god and the beckoning to hell become increasingly strong he survives the devastation of his mutilated trust and the loss of his salvation which was painfully crushed
the armor starts to crack, exposing the soul leaving the core bleeding, ripped up and torn injecting the infection of deception and lies and the defection of the holy to escape their demise the black darkened open wings of hades awaits fear strikes through his body as he tries to escape the doors to the church are slammed shut in his face hell invades his doomed soul that has yet to be claimed he cries alone outside the church in horrifying shame wrapped in misery and consumed by his fate drowning in depression, not understanding why he will never be forgiven, the man that god denied the man that god denied god denied

(2x)

by the hand of the damned the new son is blessed inverted cross as a birthmark branded on his chest haunting visions of terror from his unwanted lord torments his every thought while his destiny unfolds he's the servant to the one he's tried so hard to defy his battered soul spits blood and no longer denies that his tragic future lies in the possession of the king who rips the holes through his soul, his holy spirit lies deceased

branded by the beast the three sixes appear overwhelmed with hopelessness his fate becomes clear

denied by everyone but lucifer and wanted by none his immortal transition has already begun the powers of the church become apalled and turned away

he ends his futile fight, accepting what he's become the re-creation of the beast, the rage of hatred inside the speech that satan speaks, the man that god denied chorus

pestilence arrives, the antichrist is reborn his carcass hammered to a cross as the world begins to mourn

a crown of barbed wire thorns are placed upon his head demonic thirst for hells rebirth has finally been quenched

in agonizing pain he won't spit in the face of the flaming dark lord he was born to embrace he comes to grips with reality from everything he's learned

and lives the crucifixion he was born to serve his fears quickly disappear, his flowing blood grows cold

his rage for shit of mankind begins to unfold the smooth breath of satan starts to spread through his lungs

as he speaks with new life to the devil in tongues the chains of pain are broken, the beast becomes unleashed

he damns the book of god and its believers of deceit no longer will he cry or lead a life of lies blessed by the haunted hand of doom, the man that
