"In a lifetime"

Hard to tell or recognize a sign to see me through, a warning sign

First the thunder then the storm,
Torn asunder in the storm

Satisfied if the past it will not lie,
In the future, you and I get blown away

In a lifetime

And as the rain it falls heavy in my heart
Believe the light in you Begin again and the storm breaks through so the Light shines in you

Without colour faded and worn
Torn asunder in the storm

Unless the sound has faded from your soul
Unless it disappears.
Selfish storm hold on the inside, one life in the storm
First the thunder then the storm,
Torn asunder in the storm

In a lifetime.
