adjustment to nature's blueprint for life cutting the membranes adding the throwback splice holding our species future in our hands writing a language we don't understand

cutting the membranes adding the throwback splice

we all come from beyond the naked eye atomic individuals with elemental minds we can take our surgery and stick it in between the leaves of your humanity and wipe the pages clean yes we can make a few tweaks yes we will create some freaks isn't it for liberty the search for mental man we have the right to implement it just because we can our moral fibre stretches to the new world of the brave we stand alone unchaperoned there's no one here to save

and in the concentrated contents of this flask a future generation's divorcing it's own past and it is beautiful and it is clean, obscene

adjustments to nature's unique blueprint for life
