what's the use in hoping when you always get let down what's the use in smiling when all you wanna do is frown i'm drowning, in a sea of hate-filled eyes and she's screaming but no one hears her cries is anybody hear to see a band did anybody come to hear a song does anyone believe in magic is anybody here to sing along people shove me down they're coming from all sides and as i look around something just don't seem right I i feel so all alone though the people inundate I i see no joy or desperation only senseless hate is this the same scene that i used to think i loved or was i just naïve and were they always out for blood i've seen better days, but i know that we can make a change i've seen better days but we can change!
