"The Earth Isn't Humming"

I hear these times are the end and another one must fall down

I don't think I believe it when another one must fall down

Give us the distance and another one will fall down

The sun in the open sky, fall down, fall down
Stare back into my own eyes, fall down, fall down
A stranger in my own skin, fall down, fall down

One decade later and another one must fall down
The earth isn't humming, I watched them all fall down Fell into the sound in front of me unchanged by those around Directionless, an open sea, we'll watch as time tumbles
down

The sun in the open sky, fall down, fall down
Stare back into my own eyes, fall down, fall down
Fall down, fall down, fall down, fall down
Fall down, fall down, fall down, fall down
